Do you have a high risk condition? Coloradans with a high risk condition are eligible for vaccination.

If you have any of the following conditions, you’re now eligible for a vaccine:

- Asthma (moderate to severe)
- Cancer (if you are currently receiving treatment or have received treatment within the last month)
- Cerebrovascular disease (affects blood vessels and blood supply to the brain)
- Chronic kidney disease
- COPD
- Cystic fibrosis
- Diabetes (type 1 and 2)
- Disabilities that require direct care at home
- Disabilities that prevent mask-wearing
- Down syndrome
- Heart failure, cardiomyopathies or coronary heart disease, or severe valvular/congenital heart disease
- HIV
- Hypertension/high blood pressure
- Immunocompromised state (weakened immune system) from a blood or bone marrow transplant
- Immune deficiency
- Liver disease
- Neurologic conditions (such as dementia)
- Obesity (BMI of 30 or more)
- Pregnancy
- Pulmonary fibrosis (damaged or scarred lung tissues)
- Sickle cell disease
- Solid organ transplant
- Thalasemia (a type of blood disorder)
- Use of corticosteroids or other immune-weakening medicines

Contact your health care provider about setting up a vaccination appointment, or find a provider near you at covid19.colorado.gov/vaccine. You will be asked to self-attest that you have one of these conditions.
